School Spirit and Our Community

Each student should remember that school life is comparable to the life in a community. They should practice the qualities of good citizenship, which are so necessary in a good community.

School spirit means many things. Some of the things it should mean and ways the student can contribute to good school spirit are:

- Show loyalty to all functions of the school.
- Support the school and do your utmost to keep your scholastic and activity standards as high as possible.

- Exhibit courtesy to students from here and students from other schools.
- Have pride in things the student body of the school endeavors to accomplish.
- Always exhibit sportsmanship-by being fair, courteous, generous, a good loser, and a gracious winner.
